The Virginia Dark Fire Cured Tobacco Market opened Tuesday in Lynchburg, Farmville and Blackstone. A number of observers expressed surprise at the high quality of tobacco.

Growers were well pleased with prices, which were 15c to 35c above opening day prices last year. Most observers felt that the better grades were priced well above 1975 prices, while the lower grades may be slightly off.

One observer pointed out that for the past two years there was very little difference between the prices of low and good quality grades. It was good to see a distinction being made.
